

Gazette-Star Forum

Thursday, January 3, 2013

The word Forum comes from the Latin word Forum. Forum means building. I retrieved this from The Gazette Star (1/3/13)

22

Court Rejects Media Access

PN: 4/18

By JOSH GERSTEIN

Public and press access to the military justice system suffered a serious blow Wednesday, as the military's highest appeals court narrowly ruled that it has no power to consider media challenges to military judges' rulings on access to courts-martial.

The decision of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces came on a bid by journalists to gain access to legal filings and court orders in the court-martial of Army Pfc. Bradley Manning, who's accused of leaking hundreds of thousands of military reports and diplomatic cables to WikiLeaks.

In a sharply divided ruling, the appeals court ruled, 3-2, that it had no jurisdiction to consider such a complaint from parties other than the government or the defendant in a particular case.

"This Court, and courts-martial in general, being creatures of Congress created under the Article I power to regulate the armed forces, must exercise their jurisdiction in strict compliance

The word media comes from the Latin word medias. Medias means middle. I retrieved this from "Standard Weekly Magazines".

10

JAMAL B. BECK

Army Reserve Looks to Future

The highlighted word is army, it comes from the Latin word ^{arma} ~~mites~~ which means ^{weapon} ~~soldier~~. I retrieved it from the Washington Post.

8

Many stores and shops use Latin derivatives for example this store called "Motherhood Maternity". Maternity comes from the Latin word mater which means Mother.

New Republican Breed Aims To Show GOP 'Gets' Cities

By BYRON TAU

A decade ago, Democrats made a concerted effort to bring rural and exurban voters back into the party's fold. Today, Republicans are struggling with the opposite problem — how to win over voters from America's booming cities.

National Republicans have given remarkably little thought to how to reverse their decline

See URBAN GOP on Page 12

TECH

Verizon's Data Breach Investigations Report finds China accounts for the vast majority of cyberspy cases.

PAGE 4

HEALTH

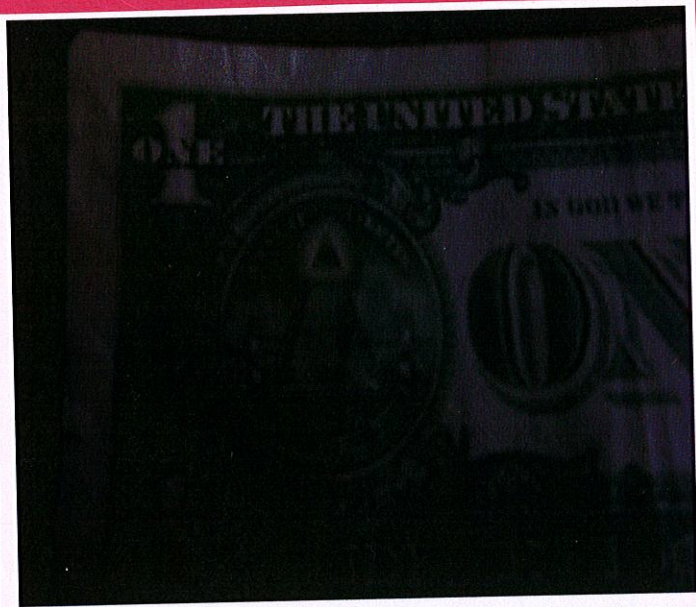

Many people maimed in the Boston bombings will soon learn just how expensive prosthetic devices can be.

PAGE 1

You can find Latin words in newspapers too. The Latin derivative that I found was decade which comes from "Decem" which means ten.

DE

5

This is a picture of a U.S. dollar. We learned that Latin words and phrases can be found on money. The Latin phrase on my dollar is "Anno coeptis". The phrase means "God favor our undertakings".

1

$2.99

Powerade 8 Pack or Aquafina 24 Pack
Selected Varieties, 8/20 fl. oz. btl. or Aquafina Purified Water, 24/16.9 fl. oz. btl.
LIMIT 2 Each
230190

WEEKLY special!

Save with

This advertisement of Aquafina water was found in the Giant food store weekly
ad. Aquafina comes from the Latin word
Aqua which means water.